He believes Gardner will give Art a bard fight, but weight will favor the Akron man. Whittaker is training sworn into office for his second term every day for his match in this city with Jim Hoy, the Hoosier champion. SPECIAL TRAIN WANTED.

If the Ruhlin-Jeffries fight is brought off in Cincinnati, Feb. 15, a special allow Jeffries and Ruhlin to fight train may be run from this city. A number of local sports are negotiating with the Eric Rallroad company for special inducements upon that occasion. It is claimed that Youngstown fight in Kansas while I am Governor.' and Canton sports will join the Akron party assuring a delegation of nearly 300 people from Ruhlin's home.

SIMMS AND GARDNER.

Art Simms and Eddie Gardner will go 20 rounds at Massillon tonight provided neither man is put out before the end of that time. Simms is confident of winning. In Gardner he has one of the hardest propositions that he has met in many months. There has been some talk of interference because of the protest filed by the ministers of

PERMIT WILL BE ISSUED.

Mayor Fleischman, of Cincinnati, is in New York. A special from the metropolis says that "His Honor" will offer no objection to the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest. .He takes the position that the law gives him the authority to issue licenses for boxing exhibitions and he considers that the coming bout comes under the classification. He says the permit will be issued two days before the contest. RUHLIN WAS NOT ARRESTED.

The promoters of the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest for Feb. 15 had their inning Monday at Cincinnati. Ruhlin appeared at a matince and again last night and was not molested. Cooke says: "In the event of the match falling through at Cincinnati I think Kansas City's convention half an ideal place for the contest."

THERE'S OBJECTION.

The ministers of the Christian church in Kansas City at their regular weekly meeting adopted a strong protest against holding the Jeffries-Rublin fight in that city, negotiations for which have been in progress since doubt that the contest will take place at Cincinnati has arisen.

VAN SANT SAYS NAY. St. Paul, Jan. 15,-(Spl.)-Gov. # Joy of the Hunt.

The frost lies crisp on the dead brown gram and jawels the fading trees, The wild deer tosses its antiered head and snifts at the passing breeze,
The snow sifts down from the bold old peaks and drifts in the bollow swale,
And the smoke of the campine floats away like s vapory bridal vell.

The song of the hunter amites the rocks and breaks into echoing trills

That fainter grow as they die away in the shades of the distant hills.

Oh, the hunter's life is the life for me, away from the world of care, Where the rifle cracks and the echoes leap through the heart of the mountain air, Where the soul is free as the air of God and the heart of the bosom leaps the stars keep watch through the silent night as the man at the campfire sleeps!

When the red sun peeps o'er the snow crowne peaks, like a hall of eternal flame, He is up and away through the trackless wilds in search of the noble game; He follows the trail of the fleeing elk through the rocks on the mountain side And stands o'er the form of the fallen king with a feeling of lordly pride,

And the mountain lion far up the cliff sends growl of defiance down At the bold intruder of strangest form in the the hunter's life is the life for me in wilds of the mountain pass.

Where the frost lies crisp with its sparkling eyes like gems in the dead brown grass.
Where the smoke of the campfire drifts away on the breast of the wintry air

And the heart beats light and the soul is free from the talons of clinging care!
